X-CD Technologies

X-CD's virtual conference platform was built with academic and research driven conferences top of mind. X-CD has provided technical research driven associations, societies and conferences with a large suite of specialized software solutions for over 20 years, and the X-CD Virtual Platform is the newest branch of the full stack technology suite.

X-CD Virtual is different from most digital event platforms in that the virtual conference data is all generated organically from the clients core conference and association modules (membership, attendee,exhibitor, and sponsors registration, speakers, abstracts, program, and continuing education).

With extensive experience with academic associations on the data management and collection side, we have extended the platform to allow our customers to transition to full virtual or hybrid events with industry leading transitional ease as opposed to having to export, massage and import data into a system meant to only last for a several days.

Links and Resources:

- Collateral

Contact:

Grant Goldhar

grant@x-cd.com